

To Whom It May Concern:

I am writing in response to legislation currently being entertained that, if passed, would limit the availability and more so the breadth of programming permitted for satellite radio. In considering this legislation, I have a very hard time understanding how such restrictions would be legal. Satellite radio is proven viable, and now that it is popular the broadcasting corporations wish to stifle it. This is not how America works in which large organizations are able to legislate away new and upcoming competition.

Please do not pass this law. It will merely show more clearly that laws are not written by or for the people but by congress for deep pockets.
